DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 21-33, 38-42 and 44-51 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Regarding claims 21, 28, 38 and 44, the subject matter, "deriving its lift in flight from forces resulting from its motion through air", as now amended, is not supported by the original specification and therefore, now constitute New Matter.

Claims 21, 38 and 44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. It is not clear how are the first section constituting the wing derives its lift in flight from forces resulting from its motion through air.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 3725

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 21-33, 38-42 and 44-51 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claims are replete with indefiniteness that is too numerous to point out in every instance. The following examples are provided for the applicant use in making corrections wherever appropriate but not specifically pointed to.

Regarding claims 21, 28, 38 and 44, it is not clear whether the product derives its lift in flight from forces resulting from its motion through air.

Regarding claim 28, it is not clear whether the fins act as a ski when the thin fins extends upwardly from a surface of the wider rear end and acts as a surfboard when the thin fins extends longitudinally from a surface of the wider rear end. Further, it appears that "that are upwardly when the board is attached" is a method step and it is not clear how the phrase further structurally define the claimed apparatus.

Regarding claims 29-32, it is not clear how the limitation "when the board is attached" further structurally limit the claim.

Regarding claim 41, it is not clear how the central longitudinal fin is connected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3725

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 21-32, 34-36, 38-42 and 44-51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Woolley (US Patent 6,234,856).

The device of Woolley reads on the limitations of the claimed invention including a wing (40), tail section (42), control elements (36), longitudinally extending fins (195), a generally thin and flat elongated portion (44), a wider rear end (fig. 7b), a central front end portion (fig. 7b), a wide rearward portion (fig. 7b) a central rearward portion (fig. 7b) and a tow (fig. 7b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 33 and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Woolley in view of Saghri (US Patent 5,498,184).

Woolley reads on most of the elements of the claimed device, except for an inflatable bladder. Saghri teaches that it is well known to provide a recreational board with inflatable material. It would have been obvious one having ordinary skill in the art to use inflatable material as taught by Saghri for the device of either Woolley for the purpose of conveniently storing the device when deflated.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
